Hagan's Tavern

WITH FANTASTIC VISIBILITY and a 200 year tradition, this famous restaurant location is being made ready for a new enterprise.

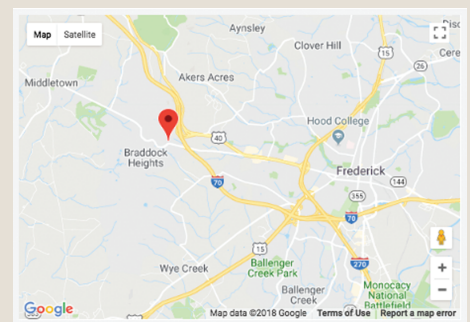

THE MAIN STRUCTURE WAS BUILT AROUND 1785 to serve as a public house for travelers on the Olde National Pike, which at the time was the main thoroughfare between Baltimore and Cumberland and the gateway to the western frontier. Hagan's was one of many taverns on the pike, but kept a reputation for having the best food, thereby attracting gentry as well as drovers.

HAGANS' GUEST LIST has included George Washington, John C. Calhoun, Andrew Johnson as well as Henry Clay. Through the years, Hagan's Tavern has served varied roles: private home, resort, restaurant, tavern, inn, and — for a period in the 1930's — a speakeasy. Hagan's Tavern has also served as headquarters for soldiers and officers from both armies during the Civil War.

ORIGINAL WALL MURALS adorn the walls of some of the dining areas which depict glimpses of the styles of Moses Eaton and Rufus Porter, as well as the Zuber School of 18th century wall covering. Created by local artist Virginia Jacobs McLaughlin, this unique display of artwork is only one of the many details of Hagan's Tavern that creates a romantic atmosphere for its guests.

Continue the Hagan's Tavern tradition as a favorite stop for a wonderful meal with a charming atmosphere. Schedule your showing today.
